Professional Development Coaching Hours

Pairing with a thought partner to bounce ideas back and forth, think through next steps, or provide feedback on work in progress can provide the extra momentum that you need. Our team of facilitators taps into expertise to support your work and be that 'guide by your side.' Choose how you want to use 4 coaching hours throughout the year - plus you can mix and match to make the most of your time:

OPTION 1:

Curriculum Coaching

Focus: Gain feedback on units of instruction or get your questions answered about creating units.

Target audience: Teacher leaders like heads of department, curriculum writers, or anyone developing units of instruction.

Potential sessions:

- Review one unit together and provide direct feedback and answer questions.
- Connect in real-time during teacher planning sessions or PLC meetings, with a facilitator to answer questions around unit planning.

OPTION 2:

Thought Partner

Focus: Thought partner sessions provide you with a fresh perspective to enhance your curriculum process.

Target audience: Curriculum coordinators, leaders, and/or instructional coaches.

Potential sessions:

- Connect school-wide goals with curriculum work.
- Explore Atlas reports and how to use them based on your goals and needs.
- Talk through your accreditation preparation and how Atlas can help.
- Update or modify your unit template or create a unit style guide or district lesson plan templates.
- Connect on the best ways to integrate a new initiative into your curriculum process or unit template.

OPTION 3:

New Staff Orientation

Focus: Schedule a quick session for new staff to ask questions, get context, and begin to develop a unit with some coaching.

Target Audience: New teachers, admin or support teams.

Potential sessions:

- Explore the basics of unit planning and development.
- Walk through Atlas as it relates to your role.

Purpose

Provide flexible hours for you to use throughout the year.

Cost

Four coaching hours are $800/year

Mix and Match

Hours can be selected from any of the options.

Virtual

All coaching is virtual and can accommodate up to 10 participants.
